

Join the Clinical Conversation

The NHS Clinical Evaluation Team (CET) independently reviews everyday healthcare consumables used by the NHS. The purpose of our Clinical Conversation events is to gain opinions and experience from NHS clinicians.

We would like to hear from clinicians representing all professions and departments (specialist wards, clinics and community focused etc.) to develop clinically based criteria for each product.

In recognition of your attendance you will be issued with a certificate of attendance which may be used for revalidation purposes if you wish.

Can you help?

At the next round of Clinical Conversation events the consumables to be discussed are:

- Slipper socks
- Urine bags
- Oxygen therapy
- Plaster of paris
- Hydrogels
- Ultrasound and lubricating gels
- Central venous access device film dressings
